2. Use and care

2.1 Use

- Before wearing the T-shirt for the first time, check that it is the size you ordered and has no visible defects (damaged seams, print defects). Report any defect as described in Chapter 4.
- Do not wear the T-shirt as protective clothing – it does not protect against heat, sparks or mechanical damage. Use suitable protective equipment when soldering and working with tools.
- Protect the print from sharp edges (for example propellers, carbon frames, hook-and-loop fasteners), which can scratch or peel it.

2.2 Washing and care

The care symbols on the garment label are binding – follow them when washing, drying and ironing. The following general recommendations help extend the life of the T-shirt and its print:

- Wash the T-shirt turned inside out so that the print is abraded as little as possible.
- Wash together with clothes of similar colour. Do not use bleach.
- Do not iron directly over the print – iron on the reverse side or through a cloth.
- After washing, reshape the T-shirt and let it dry freely. Do not wring it hard or stretch it while wet, as the stretchy material could lose its shape.

3.2 Disposal

- The T-shirt is not electrical equipment and does not belong in the take-back of waste electrical equipment.
- A T-shirt that is still in good condition but no longer needed can be donated or placed in a textile collection container – this supports its reuse.
- Hand over a worn-out T-shirt at a textile container or a collection yard in accordance with the rules of your municipality. Where separate textile collection is provided, do not dispose of textiles in mixed municipal waste.
- Sort the product packaging by material into the appropriate container for separated waste.
- Waste collection rules differ between municipalities and countries – the regulations of the place where you dispose of the product are decisive.

4. Warranty and rights arising from defective performance

The rights and obligations of the contracting parties are governed by Czech law, in particular by Act No. 89/2012 Coll., the Civil Code, and Act No. 634/1992 Coll., on consumer protection.

- The seller is liable to the buyer for the product being free of defects on receipt. If the buyer is a consumer, a defect may be notified within two years of receipt of the product (Section 2165 of the Civil Code).
- If a defect appears within one year of receipt, the product is deemed to have been defective already at the time of receipt (Section 2161(5) of the Civil Code).
- When purchasing online, a consumer has the right to withdraw from the contract within 14 days of receiving the goods without giving a reason (Section 1829 of the Civil Code).
- Claims should be made with the retailer from whom you purchased the product. The importer's contact details are given in Chapter 3.1.
- The competent body for out-of-court settlement of consumer disputes is the Czech Trade Inspection Authority, Štěpánská 796/44, 110 00 Prague 1, www.coi.cz.
